The 14th Annual Life Enriching Communities Foundation Golf Outing, hosted at Makatewah Country Club, raised over $50,000 for capital projects for the Twin Towers and Twin Lakes campuses. Thanks to our sponsors, golfers and all those who participated in making the event a huge success!
Voices of Giving Awards

Life Enriching Communities was pleased and excited to hear that two of our residents were honored with Voices of Giving awards presented by the Greater Cincinnati Planned Giving Council (GCPGC). Trudy Bernet, of Twin Towers, and Barbara Fitch, of Twin Lakes were honored for their ongoing support of foundations in the Cincinnati area.

Trudy Bernet was honored for her and her late husband Bob’s ongoing and generous support of the Life Enriching Communities Foundation. Trudy has been a resident of Twin Towers since 2004 and has spent much of her time since then volunteering around the campus, participating in community events and serving on leadership councils. She has also been a longtime financial supporter of the community. In addition to annual gifts, Trudy has made Legacy Gifts to Twin Towers’ Benevolent Care Fund and to the Pastoral Care Fund. “Trudy is a blessing to all of us at Twin Towers and her love of life and care for others is inspiring to anyone who crosses paths with her,” says Molly Talbot, Vice President of the Life Enriching Communities Foundation.

Barbara Fitch was honored for her and her late husband Stona’s commitment to and support of the Planned Giving program at the Ronald McDonald House at Cincinnati Children’s Hospital. Barbara’s history with Children’s goes back more than 30 years when she served on their board. Her husband was asked to help build a house for parents of children coming for treatment by doctors at Children’s and Barbara knew that he would agree once he saw the parents sleeping on floors in hallways. She was right, and the Ronald McDonald house was built with the assistance of Stona Fitch. The house has always had a special place in Barbara’s heart, and she encourages her grandchildren to actively volunteer there, too, as a testament to their grandfather. Barbara’s devotion to establishing a Planned Giving fund at the Ronald McDonald house was impacted by her witnessing an increasing number of people coming from out of town and out of the country for the premium care that is offered at Children’s. She thinks it is important to ensure that accommodations are never a roadblock from exceptional care. “I challenge anyone to go to the Ronald McDonald house and not be touched,” says Barbara. “There is a palpable enthusiasm that strikes you when you walk through the door and stays with you long after.”

Twin Towers and Twin Lakes are honored to have both Trudy Bernet and Barbara Fitch as members of their communities and the impact that they are making in our communities and around the city will be felt for decades to come! Congratulations Trudy and Barbara!
Jim Lay Joins Twin Towers as Executive Director

Life Enriching Communities is excited to welcome Jim Lay to the organization as the new Executive Director of Twin Towers Senior Living Community. Jim’s career has been focused on leadership development and strategic planning and he has honed his expertise in a variety of professional sectors, including non-profits, education, financial services, manufacturing, retail operations and community development.

Jim is more than familiar with Cincinnati, having spent his entire career here and having served as Vice President of Organizational Development for the Greater Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce. During Jim’s time with the chamber, they received many awards, including national Chamber of the Year twice.

Jim was a member of the Board of Education for the sprawling Northwest Local School District, which serves a 10,000 student community in suburban Cincinnati. He was the President of the board from October, 2004 through June of 2006.

Jim received his BA in Economics and his MBA in Finance from the University of Cincinnati. He also completed leadership development training from the Center for Creative Leadership in Greensboro, North Carolina.

Jim will be a fantastic addition to the team in the Life Enriching Communities organization and his leadership and development skills are sure to guide Twin Towers on its positive transforming journey.

LEC Forms Partnership with Home Care by Black Stone

Life Enriching Communities (LEC) has entered into a partnership with Home Care by Black Stone®, a regional home health care agency based in Cincinnati, Ohio to provide the non medical home care services previously offered through Life Enriching Home Services.

The joint venture, which launched April 2012, creates a provider relationship in which Home Care by Black Stone works with the Twin Towers and Twin Lakes communities to provide support to aging residents who want to remain in their homes as long as possible. Black Stone’s assisted care services, such as housekeeping, meal preparation and personal care will help make it viable for residents to extend their independence. In addition, Black Stone’s nurses will also provide skilled medical care services for LEC residents returning home after hospitalization or a nursing home stay. Services such as securing necessary equipment, e.g. walkers, wheelchairs and beds, obtaining necessary clinical information, resolving issues prior to discharge, and identifying additional community support options are designed to create a smooth transition and ensure a quick recovery for recuperating residents.

“The partnership makes good business sense in light of the innovations being brought about by the Affordable Care Act (ACA),” says David Tramontana, CEO of Home Care by Black Stone. “By pairing Black Stone’s in-home services with LEC’s senior living communities, we can focus on the post-acute continuum of care and LEC can focus on their primary business.”

Scott McQuinn, President/CEO of Life Enriching Communities added, “We are very excited about the opportunities created through our partnership with Home Care by Black Stone, both now and into the future. We’re confident this partnership strengthens our ability to provide world-class services.”
Celebrating Every Day Video Receives Award

Twin Tower’s Celebrating Every Day video was given the “Excellence in Communication and/or Media” award by LeadingAge Ohio, the advocate for not-for-profit services for older Ohioans, during their Annual Conference and Trade Show.

The award recognizes media communications that present seniors in a positive light and enhance the public image of member senior services. Molly Talbot, Vice President of the Life Enriching Communities Foundation, worked with Brandflick to create the video with this exact mission in mind, albeit unknowing that the video would end up being nominated for this award. “Our Executive Director has a marketing background and saw the video and immediately submitted it to Leading Age without telling me. What a blessing and surprise!” says Talbot.

Talbot was motivated by the mission to “Celebrate Every Day!” and by the people that she interacts with daily who truly live that motto. She was intent on capturing the stories of the residents and the associates. “I needed to dispel the image of senior citizens in a rocking chair by showing people living and loving like our people here at Twin Towers do. I wondered if their stories would be lost if we didn’t capture them,” said Talbot. And so became the award winning Celebrating Every Day video. “You could hear a pin drop in the room when it was first shown to the Twin Towers’ residents and associates,” said Talbot.

As LeadingAge Ohio Professional Recognition Committee Chair Adrienne Walsh of Bayley in Cincinnati said, “Twin Towers has succinctly captured that dedication to quality of service and subsequently, quality of life, in this timeless expression of their mantra to celebrate every day.”

Twin Lakes Listening Groups

The Twin Lakes community participated in “listening groups” last month to brainstorm development ideas for the 66 acres of land the Twin Lakes campus spans. Twin Lakes partnered with Steve Schwindner, from Seeideas, Inc., to gather thoughts and visions.

Residents, families of residents, Twin Lakes’ associates and community partners, such as the local police and fire departments and other Montgomery leaders, gathered to participate in a survey based on questions that were facilitated by Mr. Schwindner. The goal of the listening groups was to develop a plan that would position Twin Lakes as best as possible for the future and make sure that needs and priorities were considered in further developing the campus.

“It’s important to be able to hear the voice of the residents during the development of the plans,” said Molly Talbot, Vice President of the Life Enriching Communities Foundation. “The community partners’ involvement was also important so as to make sure none of the building or greenery plans block emergency entries and exits. We tried to really get a holistic viewpoint from the get-go.”

With the listening groups completed, the summarized priorities and ideas will be shared with the community and plans will be created with those in mind. Knowing that the community had a hand in future improvements to the Twin Lakes campus makes this project special for all involved.
Lighting the Twin Towers

A quick glance around the Cincinnati skyline at night will produce some beautiful images of well-lit buildings. There was a time when the “two towers” were among those buildings, fully lit and seen from afar. And resident Ray Blankenship is on a mission to restore the towers to prominence with powerful spotlights that will illuminate them from dusk until dawn. “It’s a shame that they’re not fully illuminated with a spotlight, considering how recognizable some of the city buildings are due to their lights,” says Mr. Blankenship.

The effort to light the towers is just getting off the ground, with the pricing and feasibility of the project being scouted now. Fortunately, electric capabilities exist and some donations have already been received. “We are already halfway to the goal of $5000,” says Molly Talbot, Vice President of the Life Enriching Communities Foundation, and by the time the towers are lit, it will have been fully funded with donations. The project is to be completed this fall.

“I’d just love to see us get our name out there among the other recognizable landmarks and it will be neat to see just how far we can be seen,” said Blankenship.

Grand Opening of the Twin Towers Health Pavilion

We are excited to announce that the Grand Opening of the Health Pavilion at Twin Towers will be held on December 1, 2012. It will coincide with the Twin Towers Annual Holiday Open House, which will take place the same day from 1pm-3:30pm. The dedication of the building will begin at 1pm in The Gulden Community Center with tours of the new Health Pavilion offered to all who attend. The Open House is a festive event for all residents, families, donors, board members and friends!

Construction on the new Health Pavilion began on May 25, 2011 and has been progressing steadily since. The facility will contribute significantly to the quality of life at Twin Towers with a private and secure courtyard, a salon and day spa, a new park, garden and much more.

Residents will begin to move into the Health Pavilion, a 4-story building with 90 nursing rooms and 30 memory support assisted living rooms in January, 2013.

Please join us for the dedications and be sure to tour the new Health Pavilion at Twin Towers!
