

Fairie Houses Bring Magic to Wesley Woods

When Stan, an Independent Living resident at Wesley Woods, decided to create a Fairie House for the campus, he had no idea what that idea would spark.

Erin, who works part-time with residents in Memory Support Assisted Living (MSAL), saw the potential for engagement. “What if our MSAL residents made their own Fairie Houses?” she wondered. With the enthusiastic support of her supervisor, Ebony Crockett, the idea quickly took root.

Soon, Stan and other Independent Living residents volunteered to help MSAL residents design and build their own imaginative creations. Paint, moss, twigs, and tiny treasures filled the tables as residents worked side by side—sharing laughter, creativity, and joy.

The finished Fairie Houses now decorate the MSAL garden, where residents, associates, and visitors can leave letters to the fairies. Families were invited to a special garden celebration, giving everyone a chance to write notes, spend time together, and strengthen connections across the Wesley Woods community.

“It’s inspiring to watch our residents help each other,” Erin said. “And this is just one example.” From Mrs. Sandman’s handmade quilts to Matt’s monthly piano performances, Wesley Woods residents continue to find creative ways to uplift and support one another.

“This was a wonderful way to engage our community, families, and friends,” said Ebony. “We love to celebrate our success together.”

The Fairie House project is a reminder that when imagination and compassion come together, magic happens at Wesley Woods.
